BURLINGTON CITY OFFICES CLOSED TODAY DUE TO WEATHER

City to Re-open Tomorrow

March 7, 2011. Mayor Bob Kiss has closed City offices and sent non-essential staff home today due to weather. This includes all offices at City Hall – CEDO, Planning & Zoning, Clerk-Treasurer's Office, Assessor's Office, & the City Attorney's Office – as well as Human Resources, City Arts and the Fletcher Free Library. Non-essential staff at the Burlington Electric Department, Burlington Police Department, Burlington Fire Department, Parks & Recreation, Church Street Marketplace, Burlington Telecom, and Burlington International Airport have been sent home or told not to come in.

Burlington Public Works will be plowing all day today and throughout the night tonight. The Burlington Police Department, Public Works and Fire Department are encouraging the public to limit travel to emergency situations. City Offices will re-open tomorrow.
